Pamplin Fees, Rentals Due Thurs.-Fri.

Fees and rentals of books for pupils enrolled at Pamplin Elementary School may be paid Thurs. Sept. 2 and Fri. Sept. 3 between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

This is a change from the procedure followed in other years, according to the principal, Mrs. Barbara Waddell. If all the boys and girls will prepay their fees and book rental charges, each teacher can then begin a full schedule of work on the first day of school Tuesday, Sept. 7. In years past much time was lost with the first day having to be used up in record keeping rather than acquainting the boys and girls with their books and their new teachers.

If it is necessary to make payment at a later date, this is done through the office rather than through the teacher.

Fees due include $2.50 for instructional materials, $ .75 for the "Weekly Reader" or $1.10 for "Current Events"; $2.25 for accident insurance (optional); $6.50 for book rental (1st and 2nd year students); $7.50 for book rental for 3rd year students and $8.50 for book rental (4th year through 7th).

Parents are urged to make payment prior to Tuesday's opening date.

Church Goes On Air

The Bible Baptist Church has again expanded its ever growing missionary outreach. This coming Sunday morning at 7:30 on station WBHG, the church will begin a series of Sunday morning broadcasts entitled, "The Sunday Sermon". F. L. Murphy

Announces Retirement

Mr. F. L. Murphy announced his retirement as director of The Farmers National Bank on August 10, 1971, effective on that date. "Mr. Fitz" as he is known to many people, has served as a director of The Farmers National Bank for a little over 41 years.

Shortly after coming to Appomattox in 1925 from Pittsylvania County, Mr. Murphy was married to the late Mary Hester Babcock.

On July 7, 1930, Mr. Murphy was elected director of The Farmers National Bank and on January 16, 1935, was elected vice president. Mr. Murphy was elected president of the bank on January 12, 1937.

January 1, 1971, Mr. Murphy announced his retirement as chairman of The Board and president but continued to serve as director.

Mr. Murphy is a member of Liberty Baptist Church where he has served for many years in numerous capacities. He has been a very successful business man in Appomattox, contributing a great deal to the growth of the town and county of Appomattox. The growth of The Farmers National Bank over the past years can be greatly attributed to his untiring efforts.

Fees - Rentals Sept. 2-3 For Primary School

Patrons of Appomattox Primary School will be given an opportunity to pay fees and book rental on September 2 and 3 between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. This method of pre-payment has proven to be most beneficial to both students and school personnel. It allows the teacher the opportunity to begin a full schedule of work on the first day of school since no money is collected in the classrooms. Whenever it is necessary that later payment be made, this is done through the office rather than through the teachers.

The amount for each student is as follows:

$2.50 - instructional materials
$ .75 - Weekly Reader
$2.25 - accident insurance (optional)
$6.50 - book rental (first and second year students)
$7.50 - book rental (third year students)
$8.50 - book rental (fourth year students)

Parents are urged to avail themselves of this opportunity to make payment prior to the opening date of school.

Lunches will again cost thirty cents. This may be paid daily or weekly. Milk will be available at four cents for the half pint for those who bring their lunch or wish to buy an additional bottle with their plate lunch.

There are 33 new teachers in the Appomattox County public school system shown (above) just outside the county library following a meeting of teachers Tuesday afternoon. School days for all the youth of the county enrolled in public schools will begin on Tues., Sept. 7. For the teachers and administration this week has been a busy one of preparation with conferences with supervisors and consultants from the State Dept. of Education.

Public Schools Will Open Sept. 7

Appomattox County Public Schools will open Tuesday, Sept. 7 with an anticipated enrollment of 2340, an increase of 116 pupils over last year.

Teachers began a five-day workshop on Monday, Aug. 30 in preparation for the coming year.

Reading consultants and supervisors from the State Dept. of Education are conferring with the faculties of the elementary schools in the county. Appomattox High School teachers are meeting with supervisors from the State Dept. of Education, also, according to Supt. Earl J. Smith in order that the county can continue its evaluation of the high school, an evaluation begun last spring.

Supt. Smith says that each department is studying ways in which to upgrade the curriculum at the high school level.

The special vocationally-oriented program begun at Appomattox Intermediate School will be continued at Appomattox County High School this year. This program involves about 50 eighth and ninth grade pupils. This program, a pilot program last year, has been considered one of the most successful in the state says Supt. Smith.

At Pamplin Elementary School under the direction and planning of the principal, Mrs. Barbara Waddell, a program is being initiated to give each pupil individualized instruction and to provide "continuous progress" for each pupil beginning with grade one. Boys and girls with similar achievement levels will be able to work and study together and then progress individually as they achieve success in their studies. Funds for the Pamplin "open space" program, as well as for many other programs within the public school system here, are made available under a Title I grant.

The thirty-three new teachers appointed for the 71-72 session include six instructors at Appomattox County High School: Mrs. Joan L. Holt, Miss Cassandra Dianne Wilson, George W. Blanton, George Braxton Almond, Henry W. Battle and Miss Brenda Waldron. The principal is Frank Chechek.

New teachers at Appomattox Intermediate School include William Kenneth Ferguson, Mrs. Anne Woodbury Silver, Miss Mary Elizabeth King, Paris Milton Lenon, Victor Lyle Meadows, Clifton C. Morris, Miss Maurine Vaden McCormick, Mrs. Gale McCraw, Miss Annmarie T. Sanfilli, Samuel Knowles Sasnett, Barry Failes Sauls, Mrs. Joyce Foster Sweet, Miss Pamela Jo White, Daniel Conrad Huff, Jr., Mrs. Geraldine W. Clark, Miss Teresa Colenia Woods, Miss Linda Elizabeth Merryman, Miss Deborah Ann Saintz. The principal is Lee A. Beamon.

New instructors at Pamplin Elementary School include Mrs. Adele T. Barrett, Miss Catherine Crawford and Mrs. Margaret Davis Bailey. The principal is Mrs. Barbara Waddell.

New instructors at Appomattox Primary School include Mrs. Sarah V. Morris, Miss Elizabeth O'Hara Gillam, Miss Bonny Eloise Bruce and Mrs. Ruth Allen Walkins. Mrs. Jean Hesson is the principal.

Mrs. Ann Ramsey, of Pamplin, who has been in another department is the reading instructor.

Time For A Smile Break

It was "lunch time" at Robert E. Lee Academy (above) on Tuesday afternoon, and time for a "smile break" too (since the sandwiches were all gone, and evidently were rather good ones!) as all the boys and girls who began school at Robert E. Lee on Monday morning, Aug. 30 posed for the cameraman, Walter H. Carson is headmaster at Lee Academy with 63 students, grades one through 9. Instructors include Mrs. Grace P. Taylor, Mrs. Jennie M. Mcaden, Mrs. Harriette Cunningham, Mrs. Myralynn Tutwiler, Miss Janet Susan Moses and Miss Deborah Ashwell.

Harold Howard, a s a former Confederate soldier, talks with a young visitor at Appomattox Court House National Historical Park about life in Civil War times.

Living History At Park

In an effort to make the events that took place at Appomattox Court House National Historical Park more meaningful to the visitors this summer, the National Park Service is attempting a program in living history. The visitors introduction to this program is a sign near the Surrender Triangle area which reads: "Living History – ahead is John Howard, a former Confederate soldier, who is now a farmer of 1865. Please feel free to talk with him." If they linger to talk they find Harold Howard, a graduate student at Lynchburg College, dressed as a farmer of 1865, in his old Confederate uniform, speaking in the first person on the events that took place at the Courthouse in 1865, the war itself, reconstruction or whatever may interest the visitor.

As Harold says: "I believe the purpose of this pilot program is to in some way make the period come alive for the visitors. I attempt to answer the visitors questions as though I was a soldier from this area and relate to them why I went to war, my experiences during and after the war and generally speak in the first person on any questions they may have concerning the War Between the States or the farming of that period."

The attempt to take the visitor back in time is greatly enhanced by the authenticity of Harold's uniform, a small garden and tobacco plot that he farms, and the surrounding beauty and serenity of the coun-
